Live Bands

Live bands are made up of musicians that you can work with personally to suit your individual entertainment requirements. Most live bands are able to play music from all different genres, enabling them to create the perfect atmosphere for whatever is planned at your event.

Hiring a band adds elegance to create an exciting atmosphere during the reception. It makes a statement about the formality and opulence of your event. As long as you pick the right band, the live performance can add energy to the proceedings. If you have a plethora of friends and family who can't or won't dance, they can still enjoy watching the band perform. If choosing a specific genre of music, the band can also contribute to the overall theme of your wedding.

Music is a mysterious entity that gets all banquets guests to interact, sing and dance. In a company, this boosts employee morale and heightens cohesion. Externally, music can also showcase the company's vitality and enhance brand image. It is an indispensable part of a company banquet. EMA Entertainment's team looks forward to curating a series of high-quality banquet music for customers.

Message from Project Director

Music has always been an indispensable way for people to convey their emotions. Through a tune and a melody, music conveys the sincerest form of joy, as well as the vehicle of thought. Ancient tribes sang and danced to express their respect and devotion to nature and gods – this was the earliest evidence of an intriguing relationship between music and people. With geographical and cultural development, music showed varying degrees of evolution. Musical groups providing aristocratic entertainment in Chinese banquets and musical ensembles performing music in Western banquets began to flourish, proving how essential music was to banquets.

Since 2016, EMA Entertainment Limited has always been passionate about sharing the joy and excitement of music with everyone. We are committed to innovation and presenting high quality music and entertainment, breaking the barriers of age and all walks of life through music. Services include corporate events and parties, charity dinners, wedding banquets and clansman association dinners. Our professional music entertainment team provides on-site music and entertainment, including harp, piano, live band and acapella, tailored to match the theme of your banquet or wedding ceremony. Our music can make the most out of your banquet by taking you and your guests in an emotional musical journey.

We believe each banquet is unique and special, understanding that every banquet host needs a reliable team. As a professional music production partner, seeing all guests enjoying our music is our greatest driving force. We strive to bring the best music for your guests. We are willing to welcome any innovative ideas and special requests to curate a unique proposal to live up to our name of creating the best music for everyone's pleasure.

Looking ahead, We will continue to provide music and entertainment solutions that truly meet the needs of our customers. From understanding banquet rundowns to rehearsal and performance, we give the most comprehensive support and work side by side with our customers on their musical journey. We are confident that with the support of our classical music team, pop music team, electronic musicians and audio team, we will be the most trusted music and entertainment production partner for our customers.
